On April 5 Miss Diaz created a sensation by going to the Rall of Records at midnight and climbing through a window in order to have a marriage license issued. The ceremony was performed shortly after by Justice Quinn. Then came the parting within five days. The groom was forced to return home to look after his business interests. The bride refused to go with him so the romance between them ended with the first chapter and now McGuinn is speeding as fast as steam will carry him toward Cherenne.

"In connection with the proceedings before the commission," he continued, "there is in proenergetic and persistent campaign that I ever witnessed to make the people of the country believe that the effort of the goverament to regulate railways. railway rates and railway prac tipes has resulted in dismal, disastrous failure; that the government in its endeavor to protect the people has impoverished the transportation companies: that it has driven them to the very verge of bankruptcy and ruin; that it has destroyed their credit and rendered them incapable of performing the service which commerce demands: that it has outlawed them from the confidence of capital and exiled them

O'Gorman, the Idol Smasher.

Senator O'Gorman of New York is an exasperating individual. He does not care for precedent, presidents, program or policy, but goes right ahead regardless. He upsets traditions and makes dents in the regular order. Not satisfied to accept conditions as he finds them, he goes snooping around for new discoveries. Of course all discoveries are new, but we had to say that for the sake of euphony.

For weeks our Democratic friends-not all, of course, but a whole lot of them-have been arguing that the Panama canal should be open for the vessels of war and commerce of an nations "on terms of perfect equality" and, using that argument as a basis have talked, proclaimed and otherwise caused it to be known that ships engaged in the coastwise trade should pungle up for passage inrough the trans, just the con-countries. It was a beautiful argument. It afforded the Democratic press of the nation, from the Woodland Democrat, already rewarded by an appraisership in San Francisco, to the Watsonville Register, expecting a postmastership, an opportunity to rise up in the majesty of intention and the magnificence of procedure and declare, by heck! The national honor, it must and shall be probability that the surgered world! Perish the suggestion along with the suggestor! President Wilson is the Moses of modernity and we must will up his hands obe the ropublic is liable to tilt slaunchwise and the whole works go to the bow-wows. pell-mell and helter-skelter!

So, despite the protests of Champ Clark and Oscar Underwood, who conducted the affairs of the lower house with such consummate political skill the election of a Democratic President was made possible, this same house endorsed the executive policy and the newspapers mentioned and rejected the free tolls for coastwise vessels clause.

Then the measure was sent to the Senate. Here is where O'Gorman appears on the stage. The pestiverous, pesticating insurgent! The blooming iconoclast! Instead of taking things as they appeared on the surface, he must needs go exploring beneath. About the first thing he found was that this "honor clause," this "national integrity" business had been knocked into a cocked hat by a treaty signed at Bogota last Tuesday by our own beloved Bill Bryan, by the terms of which Colombia has the right to send warships, troop-ships and supply-ships through the canal duty free, and, mirabile dictu! Great Britain, the stickler for national honor, has consented. Loro or Israei, What a mess.

Now the fact that Colombia has few warships, troop-ships and supply-ships does not cut any figure in the transaction. While it is true that the peculiar relations of Colombia to the canal may have cut a figure in the negotiations—especially when we recall that her demand on the United States was for $90,000,000 and sne compromised for $25.000.000—it is the principle that appeals. If we are to except in favor of one nation, then why not in favor of another, and if Colombia is to have an advantage of "all nations," then why cannot the coastwise ships of the United States derive the same benefits!

We repeat that Senator O'Gorman is a disturber of political with almost breathless anxiety we await the comments of the of- has been visiting Mrs 1. T Robinson fice holding brigade, actual and prospective upon his conduct.

that fully one-third of the fruit crop of California will be carried to market through the Panama canal. The tentative schedule Jackson provides for a fifteen-day passage from this coast to the Atlantic seaboard, as against ten days at present, this meaning of course to call together last night state or more against the various assessments withthat peaches, apricois, plums and cherries will doubtless be of representative citizens of Oakland for moved by rail, while apples, pears, oranges and lemons will be sent through the water highway.

But Mr. Virden intimates the time is approaching when improved methods of ship refrigeration will make it possible to move the larger part of the crop by water, in which event there is bound to be a reduction in rates due to a rivalry for business, the result being the grower will derive more profit, while the DENY HER APPLICATION consumer will get his fruit at a lesser cost.

Anything tending to an enlarged market means increased business for California and consequent prosperity, and the predictions made by a man so well informed as Mr. Virden are hopeful in the extreme.
